Left: CBR Southwest Director Abra Singleton's father has volunteered with GAP, and his time with CBR on college campuses inspired him to be a witness to atheist students. At Arizona State University, John sets up two folding chairs near his sign which invites atheists to chat. Recently, a senior astrophysics major told John that she wished she could be religious, but asked which religion. John pointed out that the resurrection of Jesus Christ is the cornerstone of our Christian faith. He referred her to watch his brother's video on the historical case for the Resurrection. <https://youtu.be/Yuj-i2TcF38?si=cG2jbWwxL0b1YSp0>

CBR-Pakistan continues to minister to the poorest of the poor in Pakistan.

In the December CBR Pakistan newsletter, we learned Lubna's story. She married as a teenager and faced years of abuse, including two abortions her husband forced on her because the preborn babies were girls. During CBR-Pakistan's educational campaign, something changed inside her. Tears rolled down her cheeks as she realized those abortions took the lives of her innocent children. "I didn't know it was murder," she said softly, her face filled with guilt and pain. Yet, Lubna found hope. She left with resources and a new purpose to share what she had learned with other women to help protect their children.
